

test IO

In Essence

test IO helps companies like SoundCloud and BuzzFeed test their software under real-world conditions by utilizing our community of thousands of professional QA testers located around the globe.

How it works:

Connect the test IO platform to your software's staging or production environment, set your test cycle requirements, and unleash the crowd. In as little as an hour, our testers return high-quality bug reports, usability feedback and even positive validations of user stories. That's it!

What you get:

- Access to thousands of testers on real devices
- Cross-device and browser testing
- Various test types covering smoke, regression, UAT and more
- Fast test cycles, delivering results in as little as an hour
- Native bug tracker and build pipeline integrations
- Detailed bug reports w/ any additional info you want

Sound simple? It's designed to be. No longer do you have to maintain a device bank, staff a dedicated manual testing team, or continuously interrupt your teammates to make sure your code is ready for releases - simply call the crowd from within your release infrastructure, 24/7 365.

Hundreds of global brands trust test IO with their QA:

1800 contacts